Section II: Object of the design contest/description of the project

II.1) Description:

II.1.1) Title attributed to the design contest/project by the contracting authority/entity:

Nyborg Castle: Restoration and new buildings

II.1.2) Short description:

An invitation to participate in an international design competition followed by a negotiated procedure concerning a masterplan for Nyborg Castle on the island of Funen in Denmark is hereby issued.

Nyborg Castle and its environs are to be revitalised so that they will become a new coherent cultural heritage site that provides better understanding of the historical fortress structure on the castle island, enhanced cohesion between castle and town, and new facilities for presentation, interpretation and exhibition. In addition to the masterplan that is to include the town hall square and the ramparts, existing listed buildings are to be restored and a new exhibition building is to be established within the castle perimeter.

The design competition is organised jointly by the A P Møller Foundation, Realdania, the Danish Agency for Palaces and Cultural Properties (SLKE) and Nyborg Municipality. The competition is both ambitious and highly unusual, as entrants are asked to present proposals for the addition of new buildings to a listed ancient monument and to add new facilities to a listed building complex. A multitude of considerations are to be given to the listings, archaeological traces and ruins in and on the ground, and the response proposed to these challenges will be decisive in the assessment of entries. The Danish Agency for Culture is therefore a key party in this competition and will also act as adviser to the assessment panel.

It should be noted that the actual exhibition design is not part of this competition.

Nyborg Castle and the surrounding town are a unique cultural heritage monument dating from the Middle Ages. It was at this castle that Denmark's first 'constitution' was signed on 29 July 1282, and the castle was also the statutory venue for the assemblies of the Danish parliament at the time, the Danehof. In those days, the castle was left vacant whenever the king was not residing in it – precisely as it is vacant today.

The vision is to achieve a winning entry that can communicate the historical significance of the castle, the fortress and the square to the town of Nyborg through the combination of new and old into a coherent entity on the castle island that will enhance understanding of the town square, the ramparts and the castle. The aim is not to bring the castle back to a certain ideal state, but to emphasise and explain the original idea and integrity of the site. Entrants are requested to present proposals for one or more new buildings to be added to the castle. The Royal Wing and the Watchtower are to be restored, and the castle courtyard is to be demarcated. The height of the Watchtower may be increased if this is deemed necessary for future understanding of the site as a whole. In addition, one or more new bridges may be built between the town and the castle island, and a new layout and use of the town square and nearby urban spaces and landscapes may be proposed.

The competition sponsor would like applicants to form teams with the competencies and qualifications needed to realise the vision. Such teams may comprise both Danish and international enterprises.

The competition sponsor intends to shortlist six teams for participation in the competition and to select up to three equal winners of the competition who will be invited to participate in the negotiated procedure. The negotiations will be conducted with each winning team individually, and there will be several negotiation meetings with intermediary submissions of the entrants' adjusted designs.

The total construction budget is in the region of DKK 200 million exclusive of VAT. This amount includes building site costs, winter measures and contingencies, but not consultants' fees. It excludes the cost of exhibition design and furniture.

SLKE intends to enter into a lead consultancy agreement with the entrant that after ending the negotiated procedure has submitted the most economically advantageous tender. The agreement will be consistent with the principles set out in the General Conditions for Consultancy Services (ABR89) and the services to be provided will in all essentials be described in accordance with the service descriptions for building and planning prepared by the Danish Association of Architectural Firms (Danske ARK) and the Danish Association of Consulting Engineers (FRI).

Time schedule: The inauguration of the completed project is scheduled for 2019.

II.1.3) Common procurement vocabulary (CPV) :

	Main vocabulary	Supplementary vocabulary (if applicable)
Main object	71000000
Additional object(s)	71200000
	71400000

Section III: Legal, economic, financial and technical information

III.1) Criteria for the selection of participants: (if applicable)

The contracting authority will select the teams to participate in the design competition on the basis of an assessment of their technical capacity (competencies in the fields of architecture, landscape design and engineering) and financial capacity. The main emphasis will be on their technical capacity and in that connection their multidisciplinary competencies and approach to the project in the light of the complexity of the assignment. Participants will be selected on the basis of the information provided so as to ensure the best possible competition.

The following information must be submitted:

1. Complete company details: Company name, ownership, organisation, address, business registration number, email address, telephone number and mobile number.

Name, email address and mobile telephone number of contact person.

2. Number of employees within the past two years, preferably broken down by relevant occupational groups. If the applicant company is less than two years old, the number of employees in the period since the company's formation should be stated.

3. Annual revenue, equity and balance sheet for the past two financial years. If the applicant company is less than two years old, information for the period since the company's formation should be stated.

4. Key figures concerning customer satisfaction. Companies that are VAT registered in Denmark are required to submit key figures (max three factsheets)/ a grading report for building projects previously realised; see section 6 of Executive Order No 1469 of 16 December 2009 on key figures for governmental construction projects, etc. Applicants who do not have key figures calculated in accordance with the definitions set out in the executive order, or applicants who are not VAT registered in Denmark, must submit similar information certified by an independent third party; see section 6(5) of the executive order. In this respect, the client is not considered an independent third party. Similar information includes information about performance within the past three years such as:

A. Statements from clients concerning 1) deadlines; 2) defects; and 3) customer satisfaction.

5. Reference projects, preferably similar projects or information about other activities that reflect the applicant's approach to architecture, appreciation of materials, approach to restoration, perception of landscaping and urban spaces, presentation and interpretation, and adaptation of new buildings to a historical context, or other information that testifies to competencies that enable the applicant to realise the vision defined for the project. The reference projects may be realised projects or projects currently being designed or constructed. A maximum of eight reference projects may be submitted and, together, they should demonstrate the team's experience relative to the assignment at hand. No more than ten A4 pages containing text in font size 10 (equivalent to five A4 sheets printed on both sides) may be submitted. If material in excess of this maximum is submitted, material following the first ten reference pages will not be included in the assessment of the applicant's technical capacity.

Reference projects, etc must not be more than 15 years old.

The applicant's role in the reference project as well as the year of construction, the name of the client and the construction cost must be stated for each reference project.

6. The applicant must enclose a brief written reason for the application for the team as a whole including a description (max two A4 pages) of the team's attitude to the project and approach to working with new buildings in such a unique historical context.

7. A solemn declaration concerning unpaid due debt to public authorities. A template can be downloaded at <http://www.udbudsportalen.dk/Vaerktoej/Standard-skabeloner/Tro-og-love-erklaringer/>. It is not a requirement that this form be used. The declaration may not be more than three months old at the date on which this contest notice was submitted for publication.

8. A solemn declaration that the applicant is not excluded from participation for one of the reasons stated in Article 45 (1) and (2), points (a), (b), (c), (e) and (f) of the Procurement Directive (Directive 2004/18/EC). Applicants who base their application of the financial capacity of other companies (ie companies other than those being part of the applicant's lead consultancy team or consortium) must include information in their application about the financial capacity of those entities, as stated in items 2), 3) and 5) above and must also substantiate that they have the resources necessary for the performance of the contract. Such substantiation may be in the form of a declaration or documentation of commitments to contribute to the project. It is an absolute requirement for an applicant consortium that the major participants in the consortium (team) that is eventually awarded the lead consultancy contract assume direct, joint and several liability for the performance of the lead consultancy contract and appoint a joint representative to represent them vis-à-vis the contracting authority (the competition sponsor).

In addition, the application must include an organisation chart that identifies the legal entity with whom the contract is to be signed and, in the case of a consortium, the distribution of roles between the consortium participants.

The information required in item 1 above must be provided for all consortium participants.

The references mentioned in item 5 above must cover the entire team. If the information is not provided or is only provided partially for a consortium participant, the application will not be considered to be non-conformant, but the failure to submit complete information may influence the selection of participants.

If the applicant wishes importance to be attached to the financial capacity of subconsultants and/or advisers or business partners in the shortlisting of participants, the application must be accompanied by documentation showing that the subconsultant, adviser or business partner places its financial capacity at the disposal of the applicant in connection with the realisation of the project. The information required as set out in items 1-7 must also be submitted for such subconsultants, advisers and business partners. If such information is not submitted, or if it is only partially submitted for a subconsultant, adviser or business partner, the application will not be considered to be non-conformant, but the failure to provide the information may influence the selection of participants.

If the applicant does not provide the information set out in items 2-5 above, the application will generally not be considered to be non-conformant, but the failure to supply the information may influence the selection of participants. Failure to enclose the information set out in items 1 and 6-8 above may mean that the contracting authority will be compelled to disregard the application.

The teams selected for participation in the competition may add new subconsultants, etc to their teams later on in the process. The conditions for doing so will be stated in the competition material.

Applicant teams are requested to limit the extent of their application material.

Prequalification applications are to be in Danish or English. Five hardcopies and a USB memory stick with a high-resolution and a low-resolution version of the application (max 10Mb) are to be sent to
